An Exquisite Tribute.

[Columbus (Ga.) Times.] The fellowing beautiful and exquisitely poetic tribute on the death of the lamented Jesse O'Brien was sent us by a friend from Richmond. It is from the graceful pen of a charming lady of Virginia: ON THE DEATH OF JESSE C'BRIEN.

(From Acatha who loved him.) Gently called thee to His bosom, please to see thee undelled:

But the fresh burst of beauty, stainless, lo! the fresh burst of beauty, stainless to see thee undelled:

But the fresh purse of the spirit, ever lingering. But the fragrance of thy spirit, ever lingering proves thee night:

Soon we'll meet in joy and glory—see thee blooming in the sky.

Zécomond, Va., February 12, 1879.

HOW CALIFORNIA FARMERS SOW GRAIN. [From the San Francisco Bulletin, March 6.] The farmers around Woodbridge have given up drilling in their grain. Some sow breadcast, in the time-honored way. Others—and among them not a few of the most progressive farmers-rig a seed-sower behind their ploughs in such a way that although they plough from eight to ten inches deep, yet the grains of wheat fall just in time to be caught by about two inches in depth of the lap of the furrows. The writer saw some large fields near Woodbridge which had been treated in this way, and it was the pretfiest night imaginable. The long rows extended in straight lines across the fields, evenly and in a fine state of growth. In ordinary seasons it is not considered necessary to harrow after sowing in this way if it is on summerfallowed land.

This is the week when the languid lady who finds the Sunday morning promenade to church, two blocks away, excessively fatiguing, takes in on an average ten "spring openings" every day, ascends and descends probably three miles of staircase, and walks around several thousand counters and show-cases without exhausting berself in the least .- Puck.

If a man really wants to know of how little importance be is, let him go with his wife to a dressmaker .- New Orleans Pica-It will soon be time to set out flowers-spring bounets .- Philadelphia Chronicle-Herald. It is feared that March will go out like an entire menagerie.—Buffalo Express.

The woman whose busband refused ber a chip bonnet when she axed him says he is a blockhead.
